Discover Transportation Treasures... Right Here!

Discover Pennsylvania's transportation history at the Boyertown Museum of Historic Vehicles! Housing over 200 years of innovation in historic factory buildings, the Boyertown Museum looks at the story of how we travel. Starting with a Kutztown-built sleigh from colonial times, the gallery takes visitors on a trip through the state's unique contributions to transportation technology.

A car built in 1872. Push button transmissions. Electric vehicles. The birth of the Jeep. Early recreational vehicles. So much that we take for granted today or think of as new has roots right here in Pennsylvania. Some of these innovations took place right where the Museum stands — our buildings are the former Boyertown Auto Body Works and Jeremiah Sweinhart Carriage Factory. Visitors walk in the footsteps the vehicle builders walked for nearly 120 years of continuous production.

The Boyertown Museum of Historic Vehicles is typically open for visitors seven days a week, 9:30am-4pm, however, our hours may be impacted by COVID-19 mitigation recommendations. Please call ahead (610.367.2090) or visit our website, www.boyertownmuseum.org, or Facebook page for up-to-date information.
