

Celebrating NATIONAL BETTER HEARING AND SPEECH MONTH

The month of May is recognized as National Better Hearing and Speech Month. Whether it is protecting your ears from dangerously loud sounds, having an annual hearing test, or wearing hearing aids to treat hearing loss, healthy hearing should be a part of your complete healthcare routine all year around!

Because hearing loss is generally very gradual, it is often difficult to notice. Sometimes, a loved one may even be the first to suspect you are not hearing quite like you should. Some common signs of hearing loss are asking others to repeat themselves, raising the volume on the TV, and difficulty understanding conversations in groups or noisy environments.

You may even experience tinnitus, which is ringing or other types of noises in the ears.

The first step to healthy hearing is having a comprehensive hearing evaluation. This includes a thorough case history, otoscopic examination to check for wax, and a hearing test. Even if you do not have a hearing loss, a baseline test can help to detect any future changes. By identifying and treating hearing loss, we are improving your overall health and quality of life! There are so many precious moments and sounds in life that you should hear, whether it is birds chirping or conversations with a loved one. In honor of Better Hearing and Speech Month, come to Advanced Hearing Care to start your journey to better hearing health with a complimentary hearing evaluation!
