HISTORY

Begun in 1920, Muhlenberg Greene Architects, traces a lively, continuous history which mirrors, in any decade during that period, the then contemporary development occurring in the City of Reading and throughout Berks County. The founder of the firm, Frederick A. Muhlenberg, FAIA, was noted for his endeavors not only in architecture, but also in community and social services, politics, and the military.

Our client list is rich in the names of the area's major public and private institutions. Local landmarks such as Berks Heim, Reading Eagle, Reading City Hall, the Medical Arts Building and Stokesay Castle are products of the firm's historic past.

A TIME-TESTED BUSINESS APPROACH

The celebration of 100 years this year marks an unusual accomplishment for a professional design firm – and it has been quite an unusual year for all! We continue to provide creative design solutions and excellent construction contract administration services.

"Many places are looking to rearrange their office layouts to improve workplace safety. We offer services for space planning that keep work-flow processes protected, workers safe and help our clients determine how best to reconfigure space layouts that address the reduced indoor capacity recommendations." – Robert B. Conklin, AIA, CSI

Vice President | Principal, Muhlenberg Greene Architects

Our long history of successful projects is founded on our commitment to our clients. We meet their goals with carefully planned, aesthetically pleasing designs while maintaining budgets and schedules.

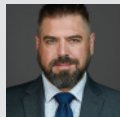

MG Architects provides exceptional value to our clients by addressing today's pressing issues facing building owners and facilities managers such as:

FACILITIES ASSESSMENTS - Our design experts can prepare a Facilities Assessment analysis to assist with creating a plan for your facility's continued operation and future growth. If your building needs an assessment, and upgrade or and expansion, we can help.

COST MANAGEMENT - We provide cost estimates and timelines that our clients rely on to make critical decisions and tailor options to stay within budget in an uncertain construction climate.

BUILDING SECURITY – Safety and security have become critical issues for many types of buildings and require careful consideration to maintain functionality while minimizing risk factors to the occupants. Our design team will bring the necessary expertise to your project to address this challenging issue.

"The speed of data exchange, and the density of information available during the design and construction process lets us move quicker, more accurately, and with more flexibility. Our fluency in digital modeling is essential to the design process and the increased efficiency adds value to our project delivery." – Scott O. Graham, AIA,

LEED AP, BD+C, President | Principal, Muhlenberg Greene Architects

FOCUS ON RELATIONSHIPS

Our client relationships are paramount to our firm. Our success is rooted in the trust we maintain with building owners and facilities managers, and always pursuing the right solutions and value for them. As a design firm, we will continue with our core values of strong communication and excellent client service.
