

Pottstown Man in Running for Visiting Angels National Caregiver of the Year Award

Jermaine Cureton Named Semi-Finalist for the Home Care Company's Top Honor

(April 12, 2023) – Visiting Angels, the nation's leading provider of senior home care, named Jermaine Cureton of Pottstown, Pennsylvania, as one of the 10 semi-finalists for its National Caregiver of the Year award.

The prestigious honor recognizes Visiting Angels caregivers for their overall contribution and commitment to delivering quality care to the clients and families they serve, as well as how they embody the company's compassionate values and demonstrate excellence. The semi-finalists were selected from entries throughout the 600 Visiting Angels franchise locations nationwide.

Jermaine Cureton joined Visiting Angels of Pottstown nearly eight years ago. He has spent more than 17 thousand hours working with clients in his community — and so many agree he has a magnanimous personality with a fantastic sense of humor and infectious attitude.

"Jermaine is very charismatic and connects so well with clients. He loves what he does, and it shows," explains Alycia Wertman, Visiting Angels of Pottstown franchise owner. "Everyone in our office voted to nominate Jermaine for Caregiver of the Year. He is so deserving, he provides a great service to our community, positively impacts lives, and makes a difference in the lives of his clients and their families."

One of Jermaine's clients has worked with dozens of caregivers for more than 20 years. He describes Jermaine as one of the best he's ever had. He adds that Jermaine is particular, persistent, punctual, and most importantly, Jermaine is part of his family.

"Caregiving requires compassion, patience, and dedication. It is not an easy job," says Larry Meigs, CEO of Visiting Angels. "Jermaine and the other nominees for the 2023 Caregiver of the Year award demonstrate their extraordinary commitment to their clients by helping them maintain their independence as long as possible."

The Caregiver of the Year winner will be announced on Tuesday, June 27. The grand prize winner will receive a $5,000 prize. Two finalists will each receive $2,500.
